There is strong reason for believing that D. M. Dover and Lida B. Yonse are a runaway couple. They came in late last night and got their license. They tried to bewilder the reporter and at last told him they were to be married at noon to-day by Rev. Whipple.

—A cooking club was organized in this city last week, by sixteen young ladies, who intend to delve down deep into the mysteries unknown to them, and catch a husband! You have made a move in the right direction. Now keep it up and see what a satisfaction it will be, not only to yourselves, but to your dear mothers, who for years have furnished your well-cooked meals. Do this and the future husband will always call you an angel, and hired girls won't be in as great demand.—Clinton Eye.

Many things which are advertised possess no value; but who would say that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup possesses no merit? It is the standard remedy of our age.

Thanksgiving Marriage.

Stabbed Her Lover.

Thanksgiving evening the colored population as is their wont, gave a festival in Hilderbrand's hall on Cherry street. During the evening Belle Haley attacked Sam Washington, her lover, with a pocket knife and came near killing him. She stabbed him in the left forearm severing an artery. The negro bled profusely and this morning a carmine streak was plainly discernable down the steps and west on the sidewalk to the corner. Sam fainted from the loss of blood but Drs. Rockwood and Kelso soon had him as comfortable as circumstances would admit. He is at Hotel Harding and was too attentive to other negro damsels to suit Bell, who claimed to hold proprietary rights in his affections. She was arrested, and upon being arraigned before Justice Garrard this morning, she was sent to jail to await the action of the grand jury.—Nebraska Mail.

FOR LIBERTY.

Three Prisoners Try to Escape From The County Jail.

Three prisoners in the county jail tried to make their escape Thanksgiving day. Nearly a week previous the bars of their cell had been almost sawn in two with saws manufactured from the steel shanks of their shoes.

These bars were never repaired and yesterday three men charged with petit larceny, George Walker, J. M. Bosman and J. A. Adams tried to wrench the bars aside. Once out of the cages they expected to easily make their way through the roof.

But Frank Buckner, another prisoner did not intend that they should escape and made battle with them. They downed him and he was obliged to call for help. Preacher Howells joining in the call.

Mrs. Smith was alone in the house. She gave the alarm and Deputy Sheriff Barnett and Detective Applegate hurried to the jail and separated the men. The three who tried to escape will be closely guarded. Buckner will doubtless be rewarded by receiving a light sentence when his case comes up.

Police Court.

Jake Gregg and C. L. Sides, $5 each for drunkenness.

F. E. Geyre, O. H. Walker and Tom Morley, $10 each for late hours.

Louis Weil and Dick O'Bryan, trespass on the Missouri Pacific, $10 and a stay of execution.

John Henry Summers was up in court again for disturbing the peace. He was given $10 and a stay during good behavior.

Mrs. Walker's Death.

Mrs. Walker the wife of Hon. R. F. Walker, attorney-general of the state, and whose death has been chronicled was well known and greatly admired in Sedalia. Mrs. Walker was 39 years of age. She was married to Mr. Walker fifteen years ago, and besides her husband, leaves two children, Katie, aged 11, and Leonard, aged 7. Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Wright, reside at Fayette.

Married.

Thanksgiving day by Rev. Mr. Hayworth at Dresden, J. H. Arnold and Miss Florence B. Rosson, all of Pettis county.

COLDNESS.

A few thoughts that are seasonable by Deacon Simeon Dinwiddie of the west end.

Blue noses made their appearance on our streets Thanksgiving morning, and closets were rummaged for last winter's apparel. Around the stoves which have been ignored since last spring were gathered the shivering family circle, and the grateful heat was fully appreciated.

Exactly when cold weather made its first appearance, we are not reliably informed, and even the oldest inhabitants can't tell us. But along in October or November he generally sneaks around nights, when most people are asleep, and gets position of one point and another, and then a little later he comes right in boldly and runs things with a high hand.

SIMEON DINWIDDIE.

UNDER THE CARS.

Death Likely to Result From a Spree.

A stranger giving his name as Herman Breit, aged 42 years, single, occupation, section laborer, relations in Ohio, was picked up last night by the trainmen and police officers on the Missouri Pacific tracks in front of the depot in a badly mangled condition. The wounded man was taken to engine house No. 2, on Osage street, and Mills, Dressel and H. L. Scales, were sent for who promptly responded to the call. Upon examination it was found that Breit's right leg was badly mangled, necessitating amputation just above the ankle; right arm broken between the elbow and wrist; right collar bone broken; face and body terribly cut.

It seems that Breit, who had drunk very freely yesterday, wandered about about until 11 o'clock when he went to the depot and lay under a sleeping car on the side track. While there sleep came over him. When No. 2 from the west arrived, the sleeper was backed off the siding, running over and dragging Breit some distance. He was found by the trainmen and officers and taken to the engine house as above stated.

This morning about nine o'clock he was removed to the Riley Hotel where he rested easily. The physicians fear that he has received internal injuries which are likely to result in his death.

A visit was made to the Riley Hotel this afternoon. Breit was suffering considerably from the loss of blood. Another examination will be made by the physicians, as it is thought that his leg is broken near the thigh.

Death of Mrs. William S. Sloan.

With profound regret the News this morning announces the death of Mrs. Eliza J. Sloan, beloved wife of Mr. William S. Sloan, of the business department of this paper. The sad event brings sorrow and grief into one of the most lovely homes of this city and marks an end to a union that was one of the happiest and most perfect of marriages. In every quality that distinguishes a true and noble woman, as a wife, mother and friend, Mrs. Sloan was one of the best of her sex. Her loss to husband, children and acquaintances is an irreparable one. The warm sympathy of many friends will go forth to Mr. Sloan in his severe bereavement.

Mr. Sloan formerly resided in Sedalia, where the family had a large circle of friends.

Will Probably Locate.

Ben Applegate, of St. Louis, who has been in this city for the week past, with the view of establishing a detective force in Sedalia, is hard at work talking the matter up with the business men. Much encouragement has been given him in the matter, and it is supposed that the day is not very far distant when Sedalia shall possess a mercantile agent. Mr. Applegate is one of the most efficient men of St. Louis, and if he does locate in Sedalia, it will be an agency, well to be proud of.

The Comet.

[From the Philadelphia Times.]

It is forging on through space, With its fiery, flaring face, Like the headlight of a train to ruin dashing.

Plunging near and yet more near, Till this trembling mundane sphere Sees ahead the ruddy danger signals flashing.

Is it Biela's comet—say? Or some other queer stray From the meteoric dance of flame-clad hours? Some Peri-like evict? Or some blazing derelict, Driven onward by the howling fates and furies?

Will it telescope the earth With a sort of ghastly mirth? Or be telescoped itself by earth's star-gazers? Doth it hide hot coals or hail In its long resplendent tail? A supply of polished stones or stellar glaciers?

Is there room for it to pass? Thrilling query; for alas! If there isn't, Mother Earth may rue the tussle. While her victor, vaulting clear, May surprise some future sphere With a specimen of meteoric muscle!

Moral. Ere it greets your eyes, Flaming 'twixt the earth and skies (Suspended like the coffin of Mahomet), Set to rights your houses all, And make ready, great and small, For the coming and the humming of the Comet!

END OF A ROMANCE.

Robby Harris, Formerly of Sedalia, Now a Young Widower—Sad Sequel.

A few weeks ago THE BAZOO published an account of the marriage of Robby Harris, formerly of Sedalia, to a Miss May Keeley, a Boston girl. The wedding did not please the paternal Harries, and they led the young bride and groom a merry dance, to all of which the youthful couple objected. The parents of Robby shut the bride in a second story of the Harris mansion and refused the groom admission.

Robby was wrath and he threw himself prone upon the ground, clawed grass, threatened suicide and dire vengeance upon everybody, and any one who dared to interfere with his domestic happiness.

And the paternal ancestors stood firm.

By some means the bride and groom got away together. How this was accomplished THE BAZOO is not advised. They went to Boston on a bride tour where the bride's people reside.

The Denver Sun of the 21st inst. tells the following sad sequel to the romance:

"Mrs. Harris, wife of Robert E. Harris, Jr., died last night at the house of Mr. Harris's parents, No. 968 Broadway. The dead woman had only been married five weeks, and the incidents in connection with the ceremony will be remembered, arising as they did from the fact that the groom was but 18 years of age and the wife but 20 years. After the ceremony the young couple went East, but the sudden illness of the wife hastened her return. She was afflicted with lung trouble, and a heavy cold developed into quick consumption, with which she died."

—There are now 137 boys in the Missouri Reform School at Boonville.
